Once in the site then you will find a host of interesting things. For instance, if you scroll down to the bottom right you will find a list of operas which have detailed analyses of both text and music with hotlinks to other related material (e.g. under Macbeth there are links to bel canto etc.), plus there are live audio links where you can hear parts of the work.

Under 'Audiences' on the top strip you will find a drop down menu with 'Educational programmes' click on that and you will find a comprehensive glossary of operatic terms and much, much more.

During the year there will be specific sessions on individual operas which you will find when you log on. Enjoy!
